Court Tips

In Pickleball, the tall badminton net posts use indoors at ASC and AFLC, and even the net-height posts used at the outdoor pickleball courts, are considered permanent fixtures as well as the raised basketball nets at AFLC. If the BALL HITS a permanent fixture before bouncing in the court, it is considered a fault.

A little known rule is that a player may return the ball around the outside of the net post, at any height, and as long as it doesn't hit anything before it lands in the court on the other side, the shot is good.

(Non-volley zone rules still apply - you cannot be standing in or step into the non-volley zone to volley the ball.)

A reminder about running backwards. NEVER run backwards to hit a ball. If you decide to play a deeply placed ball, turn around and watch where you are going in order to return the shot.
